

The image shows a wall covered in a woven pattern of rectangular panels. The panels are arranged in a grid, with dark grey panels forming the main structure and teal panels acting as the 'weft' or 'warp' threads. The teal panels are slightly recessed or have a different texture compared to the dark grey panels, creating a three-dimensional effect. The overall appearance is modern and textured.

TRAME
rivestimento
parietale

